"The range of material covered is very wide and ideal for an authority like Leicester where we have customers from a wide range of backgrounds and ethnic groups. We certainly find information on BookData Online that we have been unable to track down on other bibliographical sources."

Christine Hodgson, Manager of Reader Development Services at Leicester Libraries

"We are using this quick and easy facility [MARC download] in BookData Online to enhance our existing MARC record supply. We find it particularly useful for finding maps and grey literature. The comprehensive data means we are achieving an excellent hit rate and are able to provide more comprehensive records for a wider range of items."
